We, the Class of 1981, wish to dedicate this Corinthian to
Mr. Robert T. Wooten
Assistant to the Director
of Secondary Education

Who has, on many occasions, helped us down the sometimes rocky road through Girard.

We dedicate this Corinthian to Mr. Wooten because he has meant so much to our class and we felt that this was the least we could do to show our appreciation.

When the road became dark and narrow, he was the one who was willing to show us the right path to take. There were many times he went beyond his call of duty to help us solve our difficulties.

Again, we, as a whole, dedicate this class record to show our sincere thankfulness for Mr. Robert Wooten in hopes that it will mean as much to him as it does to us, the Class of 1981.

Thank you for all you've done Mr. Wooten,
The Class of 1981

Mr. Rocco Serluco
Instructor of Printing

Not all of the class had the pleasure to get to know you Mr. Serluco, but if they did, they would surely agree that we owe you much appreciation. You were always the motivating force behind the Corinthian and the Girard News staffs. You managed the largest class in the Mechanical School with skill and comradery. We owe you a whole lot of thanks.

Mr. Edward Vavolo
Instructor of Social Studies

Mr. Vavolo, you and our class had some differences but we appreciate the fact that you always tried to show us the right ways. We also appreciate all those holiday treats you used to bring in. Mr. Vavolo, we wish you success with your future classes and we thank you for all you've done.

IN APPRECIATION . . .

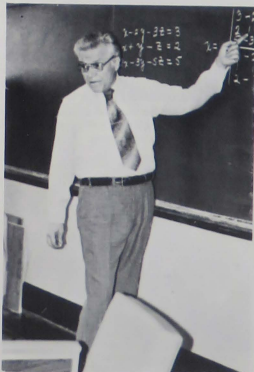

Mr. Bernard Konopka
*Assistant to the Director
of Student Home Life*

Mr. Konopka, we want to thank you for the understanding you showed when we all needed special favors and consideration. You made our stay at Girard more interesting with your endless supply of trivia, quips, and wry humor. The class now expresses their appreciation through these words.

Mr. Joseph Shuster - the name brings back fond memories for countless Hummers whose ranks we are to join. Mr. Shuster, we appreciate your staying late to help us any time. We appreciate all the counsel you've given to us. And we appreciate your style of teaching; not a day went by without a laugh. We also want to thank you for some of the priceless quotes on page 61. Thank you and farewell Mr. Shuster!

Mr. Joseph Shuster
Chairman of the Mathematics Department

LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

To the Class of 1981:

The purpose of Girard College is to equip each student with the necessary preparation for higher education, as well as for the world of work, and to instill a sense of individual purpose and personal worth. Each one of you must make his own personal assessment of his Girard experience, for Girard can only really give what you are willing to accept.

We hope that you will be happy in life, that you will bring honor to those who love you and to your school, that you will have faith in your country and that you will deeply appreciate the spiritual values of life.

I should like to record here the charge which has been given for many years to the members of the graduating class as part of the Commencement Exercises:

"Sons of Girard, I charge you now, and in the days to come, to be truly Sons of Girard: to prove yourselves worthy of his name, never to betray the trust which the Founder placed in you; to use in the building of your lives what you have learned here - not only the knowledge gained, but the qualities of character which have been developed - an understanding of your fellow man, loyalty and devotion to your country and all it represents, and love and reverence for your God. You may not all have the opportunity to be heroes, but you can all manifest nobility of character. You may not all bring forth world-shaking ideas, but you can all express intelligence and integrity and loving kindness. Just as the lives of those Girardians who have preceded you may serve as an inspiration to you, so may you, in turn, not only inspire the generations of Girardians which are to follow, but also be an influence for good upon all whom your lives will touch."

May life be good to you!

Dr. John A. Lander

LETTER FROM THE DIRECTOR OF EDUCATION

To the Class of 1981:

Graduation is fast approaching. As an alumnus of Girard, I know the ambivalent feelings you are now experiencing; part of you is eager to meet life's challenges and yet another part regrets that your tenure at Girard is about to end.

All of us who were involved in your education hope that you have acquired the knowledge and skills necessary to succeed in life. There are difficult days ahead for you and for our nation. We trust that you have learned at Girard the social skills to get along with others and the economic skills necessary for you to earn a good living in the future.

All of us who were involved in your education and training, both teachers and household staff, join in wishing you the best. May both life and fate be kind to each of you.

Seniors: you are about to complete the first lap in your training as Stephen Girard would have you do. Now go out and do it.

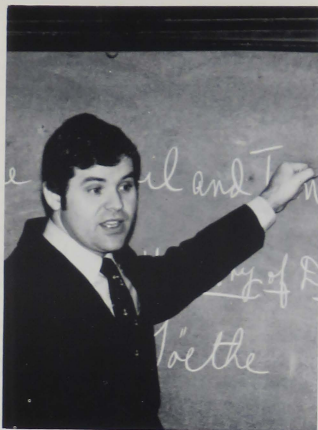

Mr. Joseph Shuster, Mathematics Department Chairman

MATHEMATICS

As the Class of 1981, you are ready to step into a world of constant change. With the present rate of technological advance you will witness phenomena never dreamed possible a generation ago. You will see advanced techniques of developing our valuable resources, a booming space program and an age of computers. All this and more is at your fingertips and you can and will be part of it. So take the knowledge you have received here at Girard and open the door to the brave new world.

Mr. Matt Miller

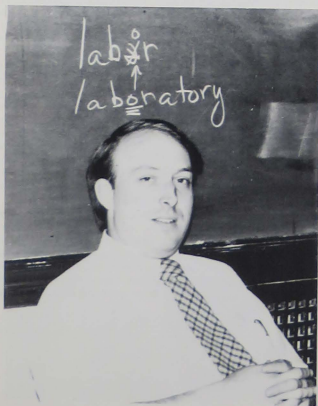

I would like to share with the Class of '81 a passage from Dag Hammarskjöld's Markings.

"To love life and men as God loves them - for the sake of their infinite possibilities, to wait like Him,
to judge like Him
without passing judgment, to obey the order when it is given and never look back - then He can use you - then, perhaps, He will use you.
And if He doesn't use you - what matter. In His hand every moment has its meaning, its greatness, its glory, its peace, its co-inherence.
From this perspective, to "believe in God" is to believe in yourself, as self-evident, as "illogical," and as impossible to explain: if I can be then God is."

Best wishes for your future,

Mr. Joseph T. Devlin, English Department Chairman

To the Class of 1981

This is the class whose members I have taught from one to five years, too long a period for mutual satisfaction. I have mixed feelings about the class, their attitude toward me in their 7-2 to 10-2 years, and the reactions with which I met while trying to correct them in their twelfth year.

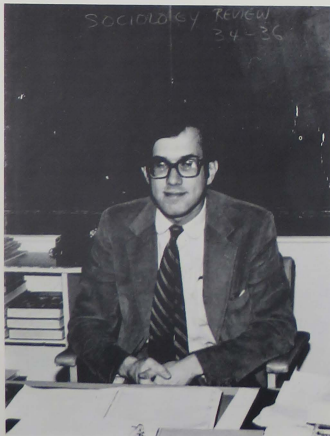

I respect certain members of the class for their abilities, even if they were difficult at times, and I appreciate their attempts to help me with the class. I wish those young men all the best the world can hold for them if they find the right keys to that world.

Those to whom I say, "Good luck and may all things go right for you," are John Annand, Gerald Gathers, Wayne McNeill, Mike Cianfrani, Thomas Tillinghast, Michael Chambers, Brent Beverley, Patrick Howell, Lewis O'Neal, John Dudley, Robert Schmeltzer, Fred Robinson, Robert McQuillen, Al Sanford, George Trew, and Antoniois Cunningham.

To the rest, all I can say is that you are going to have to make many changes in vocabulary, manners, and attitudes towards work and authority. You will have to realize that you will have to work under all kinds of people, some like me, but others easier and still others harder. Choose further education and they will control your grades. If you choose employment, they will control your wages, promotions, job training, and your tenure. You must learn to control your tempers if you expect to hold jobs. You must accept assigned tasks, dress properly, and accept a proper perspective of your own importance - that you are small drops of rain mingling in a flood that could sweep you away.

Mr. Edward Valavo

SOCIAL STUDIES

In looking over some of the antique copies of the Corinthian in the high school office I noted quite a few tributes to Stephen Girard for his generosity in endowing Girard College. In more recent years, however, the memory of Mr. Girard has faded. Understandably, the times have changed.

If today's Girard student is cynical, it is because he lives in a cynical age. If he is complacent about his privileged, comfortable life at Girard College it is because he has grown up in a society in which there is virtually no physical need. It stands to reason that a young man who attended Girard during the Depression years was more likely to be appreciative than today's student. After all, the guidance and protection of Girard College really meant something when the alternative was going hungry. No Girard boy faces that frightening prospect today, so Stephen Girard, who symbolized the ability to achieve success through hard work and the dedication to good values, may seem less important to us in the 1980's.

For years, adults - including a succession of Wednesday morning chapel speakers - have been counseling you to prepare for the future that awaits you once you graduate from Girard. These speakers have urged you to learn self-reliance, personal responsibility and the values of good citizenship. Though you may be tired of hearing it, their advice is sound. These values are well symbolized in the life of Stephen Girard; I hope that they have practical meaning for you as you leave the college to begin a new life.

Mr. Christopher Anderson

PHYSICS

In this uneasy age in which we live, strife abounds in many parts of the world. May this diverse group who are Girard graduates develop the fortitude and courage to cope with the intensity and size of the vast changes they must face.

Mr. John Bickell

To the Senior Class,

Go placidly amid the noise and the haste, and remember what peace there may be in silence. As far as possible without surrender be on good terms with all persons. Speak your truth quietly and clearly; and listen to others, even the dull and ignorant; they too have their story. Avoid loud and aggressive persons, they are vexatious to the spirit. If you compare yourself with others you may become vain and bitter; for always there will be greater and lesser persons than yourself. Enjoy your achievements as well as your plans. Keep interested in your own career, however humble; it is a real possession in the changing fortunes of time. Exercise caution in your business affairs; for the world is full of trickery. But let this not blind you to what virtue there is; many persons strive for high ideals; and everywhere life is full of heroism. Be yourself. Especially, do not feign affection. Neither be cynical about love; for in the face of all aridity and disenchantment it is as perennial as the grass. Take kindly the council of the years, gracefully surrendering the things of youth. Nurture strength of spirit to shield you in sudden misfortune. But do not distress yourself with imaginations. Many fears are born of fatigue and loneliness. Beyond a wholesome discipline be gentle with yourself. You are a child of the universe, no less than the trees and the stars; you have a right to be here. And whether or not it is clear to you, no doubt the universe is unfolding as it should. Therefore be at peace with God, whatever you conceive Him to be. And whatever your labors and aspirations, in the noisy confusion of life keep peace with your soul. With all its sham, drudgery and broken dreams, it is still a beautiful world. Be cheerful. Strive to be happy.

DESIDERATA, Max Ehrmann, 1927

Ms. Zeleznik

Paraphrasing Martin Heidegger's key thoughts on Rainer Maria Rilke's poetry, I could ask: And what are (language) teachers for in a destitute time? And the German poet Friedrich Holderlin could answer: "Therefore has language, most dangerous of possessions, been given to man . . . so that he may affirm what he is . . ."

In this decade, when we may too easily believe the "mirage" of technological conquests, and forget our lasting survival problems and the threat of a holocaust, we ought to remember the pristine predictions of the philosophers of language: "What has long since been threatening man with death, and indeed with the death of his own nature, is the unconditional character of mere willing in the sense of purposeful self-assertion in everything. What threatens man in his very nature is the willed view that man, by the peaceful release, transformation, storage, and channeling of the energies of physical nature, could render the human condition, man's being, tolerable for everybody and happy in all respects." What Heidegger meant in simpler terms, was that any salvation coming from the unholy as a substitution for man's being, would be an unsubstantial illusion for man, threatened by his own nature. The salvation must therefore come from the togetherness of mortals and their nature, from the realm of Being, whose presence is the Being of language - the language of Being, what Greek philosophers named, since Plato, logos.

Two of the Founding Fathers of the United States, Benjamin Franklin and Thomas Jefferson, assumed "avant la lettre" the above concerns. Both men knew well that the differences of tongue only hid the similarities of human trends within the older European countries to the new American nation, and foresaw the necessities of communication as a primary requirement for the survival of their young state. Both thinkers were of course excellent English performers, but they were also competent in the language of Cervantes and Voltaire. Both were among the subscribers of two of the most important magazines published in Spain in the XVIII century. Their libraries held the works of French philosophers (Montesquieu, Diderot, and Rousseau) who influenced so deeply the spirit of the new nation.

This distinctive feature that privileges man over the rest of the earth creatures and allows us to deepen our understanding, should give us the strength and the passion, the will and the desire to accept the demanding challenges of our time.

In 1981, when air travel has narrowed the distances on earth and expanded our communication means, we should certainly not forget Franklin's or Jefferson's example, to realize everywhere, that "la langue est notre être, la langue es nuestro ser."

Mr. Jose Maria Naharro

FOREIGN LANGUAGES

To the Class of 1981

A formula for success may be found in this poem by Douglas MacArthur:

Wanted: boys who'll bide their time,
And wait the hills of life to climb,
Boys out of school who do not seek
A grown man's wages in a week,
And will not sell the future years
For some small gain which now appears;
Bright, eager boys who want to learn
And work for more than what they earn.

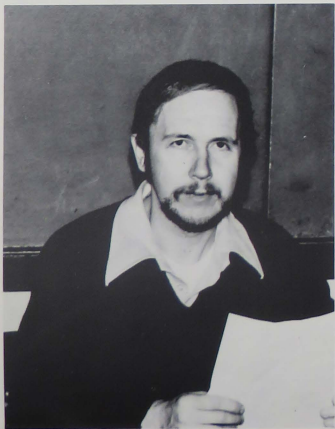

Boys wanted of a rugged stock
Who will daily watch the clock;
Ambitious boys, alert to see,
Wherever useful they can be;
Boys who are not inclined to shirk
But put their hearts into their work
And go to tasks which must be done
As though it were their greatest fun.

Boys wanted - not the flabby kind
That seek some easy post to find
Not careless boys who think the boss
Is rich enough to suffer loss
But boys who think and work and train
For that promotion they may gain
And for that job should prepare -
Such boys are wanted everywhere.

Never give in to anything large or petty - never give in, except to convictions of honor and good sense. Good luck to you all.

Coach David R. McKay

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

It has been a very enjoyable year working with the Class of '81. I have learned many things from you; I hope you have learned something from me. Remember; not all things you have learned or absorbed this year will make any sense, but, somewhere in your life they will come into play. I will always remember your class as the class that thought before it acted.

Good luck,

Coach Joseph Gibbons

PRINT SHOP

This year's Print Shop, with the seniors Kevin Myrick, Bob Termine, John Annand, and Patrick Howell had a terrific year. The shop includes eight members of the junior class (Joe Schmeltzer, Steve Jenkins, Bill Trew, Tim Merkel, Jon Kaercher, Tom DiRenzo, Dave Matsinger, Harry Tran) who bring its enrollment to twelve - making it the largest and most productive shop in the Mechanical School.

The Print Shop meets the printing needs of the entire college (medical, vacation, scholastic, and sports forms and awards, The Girard News, the Corintian, The Steel & Garnet, the President's and other's reports, stationery for the students and staff, and private jobs, just to name a few).

The 1980-81 Print Shop crew wants to clearly express its appreciation for Mr. Rocco Serluco, our professional shop instructor. Thanks for everything Mr. Serluco!

SECOND ROW: Howard Jones, Pat Stark, Mr. H. Wightman

DRAFTING

This year there were four seniors and two juniors in the shop. The main objective of the course is to prepare its students with enough background experience to give them a head-start in the field of drafting.

One of the juniors, Fran Franks, entered the 1981 Model Building Competition which is sponsored by the General Builders and Contractors Association. After hours of time and effort and with the expert advice of the instructor, Mr. Homer Wightman, Fran's model received an Honorable Mention Award worth twenty-five dollars.

This year's draftsmen kept busy by drawing up residential plans, training aids, athletic and academic awards, and personal project blueprints for the students in other shops, as they continually sharpened their drafting skills.

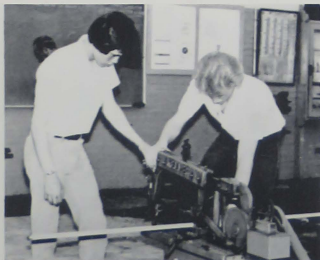

FIRST ROW: Bill Robinson, George Trew, John Dudley, Cary Childs, Mr. G. DiGiovanni

MACHINE SHOP

Girard College not only provides an academic education for its students, but a vocational education as well. In this vocational area, Machine Shop is the most efficient and productive on campus. It trains the student in several fields - sheet-bending, shaping, lathe work, welding, and drilling. Much to the benefit of the students there is a well-experienced and able instructor, Mr. Guido DiGiovanni.

Because of the hard work necessary, Machine Shop students take pride in their tools, machines, and many projects.

MISSING: Gerald Gathers

AUTO SHOP

The Girard College Auto Shop, located in the Mechanical School, is one of the six pre-vocational courses offered by the College. Under the direction of Mr. James Sypherd, the students learn the basics of automobiles and improve their mechanical reasoning abilities. The shop offers mechanical service to all Girard employees, which simultaneously exposes its students to hands-on training.

FIRST ROW: Frank Arena, Lee Wilson, Antonio James, William Wallace

SECOND ROW: Isaac Lee, Andre Taylor, Michael Chambers, Tom Tillinghast, Mr. W. Moore

WOOD SHOP

The primary objective of Wood Shop is to teach the students a marketable trade in carpentry.

This year the shop got a powerful new planer to further increase the range of power machinery available to the Wood Shop students.

By the end of a three-year period the students know how to operate and maintain every machine in the shop. The students thereby gain an edge in acquiring a job in the wide field of woodworking.

FIRST ROW: Mrs. J. Best

SECOND ROW: Robert McQuillen, Brent Beverley, Wayne McNeill, Alfred Sanford, Robert Trotter

BUSINESS

One of the most complex courses at Girard is the one offered by the Business Department. The course covers bookkeeping, typing, business law, office methods, computer science, and business management. This year's business students received a lot of individual attention because the class was so small. The seniors in the business course this year are Wayne McNeill, Brent Beverley, Alfred Sanford, and Robert McQuillen who would like to thank Mrs. Jane Best for all of her efforts.

FIRST ROW: Vance Riley, Sam Garner, John Wilt
SECOND ROW: Mr. K. Kauffman

ART

This year's Art class consisted of three students, Sam Garner, a senior, John Wilt, a junior, and Vance Riley, also a junior. The three students enjoyed much individualized attention this year because of their small number. Each student was able to pursue his artistic forte in full.

Vance's specialty is clay sculpture while John likes watercolors and Sam does well in figure drawing. But a visit to the Art class would reveal that the students are not severely restricted to working within their specialties.

Mr. Kauffman, our instructor, gave his students a well rounded art course before letting them branch off into their specialties. For this and all his other help, the Art class students thank him. Farewell and good luck to the future Art classes of Girard.

It has been a challenge as well as a pleasure to serve as your Student Body President during this past school year. I would like to thank everyone who has supported my efforts and endeavors in attaining my goals.

Because growing up at Girard isn't always an easy task, I would like to leave all of you with the following thoughts. If you decide to put some of these ideas into daily practice, I believe that you will find that life becomes what you make of it.

"As much as possible, without surrender, be on good terms with all persons."

"Speak your truth quietly but clearly, and listen to others - even the dull and ignorant, they too have their story."

"If you compare yourself with others, you may become vain and bitter; for always there will be greater and lesser persons than yourself."

"Enjoy your achievements and learn from your set-backs."

"Be yourself."

"Be at peace with God, because He is the final judge."

"Don't be afraid to help another person in need, for one day you too will be in need."

"Whatever talent God has given you, use it and share it with others; for your gift will grow."

"Remember that you reap what you sow in life."

"Be an individual and don't be afraid to stand by yourself for what you believe."

"Most of all, don't let other people tell you what you can and cannot do; for they do not know you better than you know yourself."

"Remember that you can do whatever you want to do, if you put your mind to it."

"Finally, remember that freedom is a state of mind, outside of being bonded and chained."

Well, we finally made it! Here it is, the end of the beginning. After graduation we will go our separate ways, searching for a suitable career. I'd like to wish you all good luck in the future. We had a great class with a lot of different personalities but there were never any severe problems which we couldn't work out.

Our class is made up primarily of a few groups, in which many brother-to-brother relationships developed. Even though some of us would not like to, we will all remember Girard. Hopefully, we will reminisce about the good times instead of the bad.

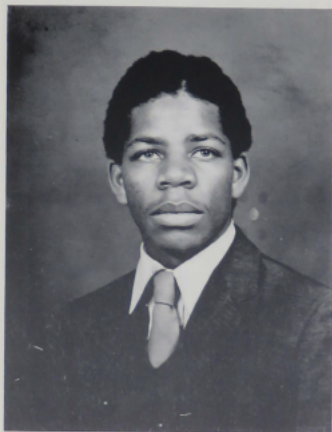

I thank you all for giving me the privilege to be Class President. Please forgive me if I didn't live up to some of your expectations, but I did try! There never was and there never will be a better class than the Class of 1981.

A hunter found a human skull in the forest. Surprised, he asked him, "What brought you here?"

The skull answered, "Talking brought me here."

Amazed, the hunter ran home to report to the king. "I have found a skull in the forest who talks." The king could not believe it so he came along with his guard to find the truth. When they came to the skull, the hunter asked him as before, "What brought you here?" The skull remained silent. The angry king called the hunter a liar and ordered the guard to cut off his head and leave it behind as a prey for the ants of the forest.

When everybody had left, the skull spoke again, asking the head of the hunter, "What brought you here?"

The head gave the answer, "Talking brought me here."

*It was a Monday, a day like any other day.
I left a small town for the Apple in decay.
It was my destiny. It's what we needed to do.
They were telling me. I'm telling you.
I was inside looking outside, the millions of faces,
but still I'm alone. Waiting, hours of waiting,
paying a penance, I was longing for home.
I'm looking out for the two of us.
I hope we'll be here when they're through with us.
I was inside looking outside. Oh the millions of faces,
but still I'm alone. Waiting, hours of waiting,
I could feel the tension. I was longing for home.
I'm looking out for the two of us.
And I hope we'll be here when they're through with us.
I'm coming home.

Bordeaux Hall is the three story, marble building to the east of Founder's Hall whose function is to house the senior and junior classes.

The housemasters, or "housies," strive to provide each student with helpful advice and guidance.

Bordeaux contains thirty six two-man rooms where the students live with roommates of their choice. In the basement of the building there are two billiard tables and a pair of ping-pong tables. Just behind the building the students relax, shoot the breeze, wash cars for extra money, and play softball.

The seniors would like to wish the future occupants of Bordeaux many happy days in good old Bordeaux.

CORINTHIAN STAFF

The goal of this year's staff was to develop a distinctive Corinthian because we wished to avoid the possibility of its premature obsolescence. After much debate and revision, the book slowly materialized and the result now lies in front of you. The cover picture may look familiar to some because it was drawn by Rocco Serlucio for the January, 1944 Corinthian. The "seniors" silhouette on page twenty-one was featured extensively in the Corinthians of the 1930's and 40's.

The staff would like to express its gratitude to Mr. Michael McKeever for his integral photographic assistance, to those who lent us their personal snapshots, to Ms. Joan McGovern who acquired our entrance pictures, and to all others who, in any way, helped produce this year's Corinthian.

GIRARD NEWS

During the 1980-81 school year, with Allan Thomas and John Annand as Co-Editors in Chief, the Girard News continued to feature a record review by Dave Matsinger ('82), an opinion column by Tom Tillinghast, and the Main Road Talk by Tim Merkel ('82).

This year we introduced our new feature called Elementary Efforts which was under the direction of senior Wayne McNeill. It afforded an opportunity for the first through sixth grades to contribute to the school news. In addition to this, the paper's circulation was extended to the Junior School students as well as its staff.

The issues were appearing with regularity until the Corinthian took priority late in the spring. After the paper's four month dormancy, the staff sprang back into action and ran off two last issues.

Thanks are due to all those who reported for, printed up, and helped circulate the Girard News.

SOC CER

This year's varsity soccer team got off to another late start, meaning that all fourteen players had to work extra hard. Because the team consisted of five seniors, six juniors, and three sophomores, it has a lot of promise for the next few years.

When we finally started to play soccer, our players gave their very best but it wasn't enough. Our physical condition was behind that of our opponents; as a result we lost most of our games by a point margin of one or two goals.

Although the team's efforts aren't shown by the number of wins, we stuck together and fought until that last whistle.

We all deeply appreciate the coaches' efforts, sticking with us through this tough season. Mr. Harvey and Mr. Mills, thank you!

CROSS-COUNTRY

This year's team was a large but young group of runners, the majority of them being in grades seven through ten. The G. C. Striders, as we were known, surprised many teams who had defeated us in previous seasons. The Girard runners ran hard and finished the season with a 5-6 win-loss record.

The team thanks Coach Gibbons for his continuous concern and enthusiasm throughout the long season.

The seniors of this year's team, Alfred Sanford, John Dudley, and John Annand, lay down a challenge to the striders in the Class of '83, and those who are to follow, "Give it all you've got 'cause you're headed for the top."

FIRST ROW: Phillip Brown, Paul Edwards, Kevin Chambers, Robert Lee, Keith Koenig

SECOND ROW: Leon Gray, Gerald Gathers, Jon Kaercher, Fred Robinson, Ali Atefi

WRESTLING

This year's wrestling team traveled a hard and narrow road. Many times they were beaten due to a lack of participants. They had to pick up the pieces and keep on going because they wanted to succeed.

Although the team didn't live up to certain expectations, they still gave it their best shot. The team typically gave up twenty-six to thirty-six points every meet but with hard work, practice, and dedication, the future team will bring back the respect and honor that the past teams bestowed upon them.

PENN-JERSEY CHAMPIONS 1980-81

FIRST ROW: Tennie James, Brent Beverley, Sam Garner, Mike Chambers, Isaac Lee
SECOND ROW: Mrs. H. Gorham, Mr. J. Gibbons, Cary Childs, Wayne McNeill, Lee Wilson, Mr. D. McKay

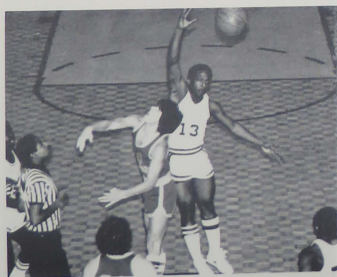

BASKETBALL

We can finally say we're number one. Despite our size, this year's team was able to bring the championship home to Girard where it belongs.

Our team included six seniors: Mike Chambers, Cary Childs, Sam Garner, Wayne McNeill, Isaac Lee, and Brent Beverley. Oh! we can't leave out our underclassmen: Lee Wilson and Tennie James.

I can remember times when our opponents would laugh at us because of our lack of height, but when the game began they thought otherwise because we worked together as a team.

We would like to thank everyone who participated in supporting this year's basketball team to a championship title. Thank you all.

FIRST ROW: Brian Stark, Joe Paoletti

SECOND ROW: John Dudley, John Annand, Anthony Coleman

THIRD ROW: John Chambers, Ken Annand, Dan Baxter, Mr. M. Young

SWIMMING

This year's swimming team never pulled in a win but showed spirit and gave one hundred percent of their effort. They never gave up, even when they lost the meet before they started because of their small size.

Their best event was decidedly the medley relay. John Annand started off doing backstroke and was followed by his brother, Ken Annand, who swam breaststroke. Next came John Dudley, swimming butterfly with his usual good showing, who was followed by John Chambers, swimming his strong and sometimes deciding crawlstroke.

Dan Baxter came out for the team late in the season but was much needed. Brian Stark showed talent in breaststroke events and will surely look good in future seasons. Joe Paoletti (Kazoo) set a good example for underclassmen by sticking it out through the tough practices. P.S., special thanks go to our coach, Mr. Michael Young, and to Anthony Coleman, our lunchboy and manager.

FIRST ROW: Joe Paoletti, Leon Gray, Pat Stark, Mike Cianfrani, Brent Beverley, Colin Brennan, Joe Reilly, Harry Tran, Don White
SECOND ROW: Brian Pasquale, Rich Bennett, Bill Stanislawczyk, John Wilt, Tom DiRenzo, Robert Trotter, Randy Kobzina, Garry Grenade, Mr. W. Gallagher
MISSING: Tennie James

BASEBALL

The 1981 Varsity Baseball team consisted of six juniors, two sophomores, three freshmen, and only two seniors. The team was once again headed by Coach Bill Gallagher who did a superb job of molding his team into a better than average baseball team. He stressed constant hustle and game awareness.

The captains of the team were Brent Beverley, who led the team on the field, and Mike Cianfrani who led the team off the field. This year's season was very exciting because the team held a lot of good hitters and the coach gave us the freedom to steal bases whenever the time presented itself.

Though it will lose two of its key players, the outlook for next year's squad is excellent. Don't be surprised if you're reading about the team winning a league championship. Good luck Bears!!

TRACK & FIELD

The 1981 Track & Field team may have started late but managed to become strong contenders. Under the fine leadership of Coaches Jackson and Schiffrin, the team earned the respect of opposing teams and coaches. The team was headed by four highly competitive seniors: Alfred Sanford, Fred Robinson, Kevin Myrick, and Andre Taylor. Although the team was mainly supported by the seniors, it has a fine future with talent coming from the Classes of '83 and '84.

This year's team showed a lot of guts when competing with much larger teams. Even when members had to compete in as many as four events in a single meet, they didn't complain.

The season marked a Girard first when the team entered a relay team in the Penn Relays, not to mention the Father Judge and Temple Relays. Girard fared well in all of these meets. With these additions to the track schedule, Girard now has a little something extra to strive for.

FIRST ROW: Steven Holland, Robert Riley, Dave Feagans, Steven Segal, Richard Hall, Richard Hurrell, Sean Andrews, Dave Hazlewood, Joe McFall, Isaac McKants
SECOND ROW: Vladimir Sarlat, Mr. J. Lestino, Anthony DiPatri, Paul Edwards, Vance Riley, Fran Franks, George Trew, Frank Arena
THIRD ROW: Steven Jenkins, Tim Merkel, Dave Matsinger
MISSING: Joe DiRienzo

TENNIS

This year's Tennis team was under the guidance of Coach John Lestino. The team had a comparatively good year despite the fact that we failed to win any matches. It was good to see so many students, especially the younger ones, come out for the team and stick with it.

This year the courts were bordered with decorative shrubs which lend a new distinguished look to our main practice station. The team also acquired several new wooden Bancroft raquets which were badly needed.

The players have all improved to a great extent and they will surely be rewarded with some winning seasons in the future years.

CAMPUS QUOTES

Dead Syph's dead heads.

My boy is throwing down.

Bums down my man.

Gotta very nice set of teeth there, butcha got a little stain, let's clean em up a little.

Can't be happy if your head is nappy.

Now how can I get back without Septa?

Now come on you guys, I try to be fair!

The Boston "T" Party

I'm not patting myself on the back, but I know more than the guy who wrote the book.

I could prove it but I'm fighting that up there.

It'll kick it right out!

Oh hell, that's easy!

Hey Tomcat!

O.K. you hound-dogs!

That's the beauty of this thing!

Chip away at it!

Here's some ice-cream with your cake.

Stick this behind your ears.

Somebody catch that guy before he falls.

Now Mr. Till, math comes before Starsky and Hutch.

Fire it up!

Barney, Bernie and Rick

My boy got air-yams.

Look! It's Max Hummer.

Yo Har!

C.J. Smudge

Psych.

Hook me up.

Let's buy a sack.

Does that make sense to you?

Oh wow man.

Gotta smoke Bob?

Let's git on!

Can't wait 'til Friday!

Don't even try it!

Don't you wish you were getting out this year . . . like me?

Be cool man.

Bick got dressed in the dark.

You are sick, animalistic barbarians!

Bob, get the First Aid kit.

I call the shots around here.

The splice broke!

Are you from Joisy?
